

New Parking Garage at BART

In Fall 2017, construction will begin on a new parking garage on the South parking lot of the Walnut Creek BART station. Prior to building the new garage, access adjustments will be made to the existing BART parking garage and the North parking lot. During this time, there will be temporary closures of access roads and entrances to the existing garage and parking lots.

The project will add 100 new parking spaces over existing capacity and improve access and safety for pedestrians, cyclists and buses. There will be no loss of parking during construction. Attendant assisted parking will be used to limit impacts to the public. Current construction closures are as follows:

Step 2: New Passenger Drop Off

A new passenger drop off area will be constructed on the North side of the Existing Garage.
